However, we expect to see the Android 9 Pie Go Edition arrive at the Galaxy J2 Core (SM-J260G) at some point in 2019. We will update this post if and when we receive official information on this matter. Samsung One UI Although Samsung said nothing, we think that the Galaxy J2 Core will be upgraded to Android 9 Pie. This means that there is a small chance that one user interface can accompany a pie update on these devices. However, there is no official word available at this time from Samsung as to if and when this one user interface will arrive, but we won't be surprised if it misses out on one user interface. Only time will tell.
